

CHINESE PRESIDENT HAS RESIGNED

MANDATE ISSUED ENDING WAR AND EXILING GEN. WU

General Feng, Who Assumed Charge at Peking Yesterday, Instructs Cabinet to Carry On, Following Retirement of Tsoo Kun as Head of Central Government.

(By The Associated Press)
PEKING, Oct. 25.—Tsoo Kun has resigned the presidency of the central Chinese government. It is understood that General Feng Yu-Hsiang, who is in control of the capital has instructed the cabinet to carry on.

A mandate last night by President Tsoo Kun ending the war in which the Peking forces had been resisting the armies of General Chang Tso-Lin, the Manchurian leader, and exiling General Feng Yu-Hsiang, the Chinese general, was with the knowledge and approval by agreement of General Chang Tso-Lin was voiced in many quarters. General Feng returned to Peking to oust the government under the banner of which he was thought to be fighting while his armies were supposed to be defending Jehol against General Chang's Manchurian invasion.

Failure of President Tsoo Kun to fulfill his pre-election promises, coupled with the dominating attitude of General Wu Pei-Fu, who controlled the actions of the president and used his influence to promote his ambitions at the expense of the government, had been the cause of the overthrow of the government by Feng.

The action of General Wu, as military head of the government, in ousting Tsoo Kun without the necessary preparation afforded an opportunity for the dissatisfied elements to effect a change which they much desired, but which they hesitated to obtain by their own efforts. General Wu maintained undivided strength at Peking.

SEC. WALLACE LOSING GROUND IN HIS ILLNESS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Physician attending Secretary Wallace, of the Agriculture Department, who is lying between life and death at a hospital here, said shortly before noon today that the secretary's condition "could hardly be more unfavorable" for recovery.

There still is a slight hope but Mr. Wallace has been unable since early morning and the possibility of recovery appears to have spread to all parts of the body.

Secretary Wallace lost ground during the night in his fight against toxemia poisoning, which began yesterday after an operation last week for removal of his appendix and gall bladder.

Dr. Joel T. Boone, the White House physician, who is attending the secretary, told reporters that the patient's condition was "critical" but that he was "still hopeful."

Mrs. Wallace spent the night at her husband's bedside in the hospital, and Dr. Boone, who is attending the secretary, said that the patient's condition was "critical" but that he was "still hopeful."

Dr. Garnett Back From Health Meet

City Health Officer R. W. Garnett, returned last night from Detroit, where during the past week he has been attending the 53rd annual convention of the American Public Health Association. Dr. Garnett said that the sessions were great and that he had returned with a number of constructive ideas, some of which he expects to work out. More than six hundred persons attended the sessions lasting from Monday until Thursday. Eight different phases of public health were under consideration at the same time in different meeting halls and the delegates chose those branches which interested them most. There were in addition several general meetings.

Dr. Garnett attended the sessions hearing on the administrative part of public health work, and child hygiene. Men high up in the profession were present and one of the most interesting addresses, Dr. Garnett said, was that of Dr. G. F. Fick of Chicago who described the advances made in determining the susceptibility of children to scarlet fever. He was working out a treatment comparable to the Schick test used to predetermine susceptibility to diphtheria. Many social features were included.

He went through Henry Ford's plant and saw perhaps more interesting in the Ford hospital which has a staff of 103 full time doctors and technicians and between four and six hundred daily out patient cases. Dr. Garnett described the hospital and its equipment perhaps the finest he has ever seen.

RED PLOT STARTLES ENGLAND

SEVERS TRADE RELATIONS

UNEARTH PLAN TO OVERTHROW BRITISH GOVT.

MEXICO ORDERS CONSULATES IN BRITAIN CLOSED

Action Not a Hostile Move But Due to Non-Recognition by England

(By The Associated Press)
MEXICO CITY, Oct. 25.—Mexico has suspended commercial relations with Great Britain, the department of foreign affairs ordering the consulates in London, Liverpool and Glasgow closed as well as all the honorary consular offices throughout the United Kingdom.

This step was decided upon, in the words of Foreign Minister Saeenz, not to show hostility to Great Britain but because the present "abnormal relations" of themselves, "to maintain consular representatives under a government which does not concede Mexico the honor of maintaining official relations, thus involving the dignity of the Mexican nation." Mexico has the moral and legal capacity inherent to sovereign countries.

The foreign minister added that the decision would remain effective while the present "abnormal relations" between the two nations endure, but that British consuls would continue to have the same guarantees as before in the event the London government did not see fit to recall them.

The Oregon regime in Mexico has never been recognized by Great Britain. Several months ago the London government was reported on the verge of sending a commissioner to Mexico with the object of preparing the way for recognition, but the Cummins-Evans case intervened.

This is the first time that the expulsion from Mexico of the British charge des archives, H. S. Cunard Cummins, who accused by the Oregon government of adopting unduly aggressive measures in supporting the claims of Mrs. Rosale Evans, American-born widow of a British subject in her fight against application of the Mexican land laws to her estate, Mrs. Cunard, and her death being attributed by the British to persons interested in the land case and by the Mexicans to brigands.

Since Mr. Cummins' departure the British government's interests in the Mexican capital have been cared for by the American embassy.

DEMONS AND HORNETTS CLASH THIS AFTERNOON

With Captain Shank and Smith, the full back, unable to play on account of injuries sustained in practice last Thursday, the Lynchburg Christian College football team arrived in Danville early this afternoon for today's clash with the Wake Forest team. The Carolinians rolled into Danville late yesterday evening in a white bus and spent the night at the Burton hotel.

With a perfect day for the game in evidence, indications this morning pointed to a large crowd at Stonewall Jackson playing grounds by three o'clock this afternoon when the "Demons" and "Hornets" eleven from Lynchburg and from Wake Forest and other contiguous points it was believed that Danville sport fans would turn out freely on the realization that efforts to secure future college games in this city depend very materially upon the measure of support given to today's game.

The crumpling of two star players on the "Demon" team, eleven from Lynchburg, was conceded as a serious blow to the Hill City players who with substitutions will meet one of the crack college football teams of the South which has been developed this season. The Carolina machine is noteworthy for the fact that it has played together for two years with virtually no change and therefore lays claim to unusual co-ordination.

In addition it is a heavy team with its weight evenly distributed as may be gathered from the appended line up with the players' weights.

The late arrival of the Lynchburg team prevented careful study of the "dope" qualifications but the early "dope" was that the team is lighter than the Carolinians and by reason of the size of the two institutions has not had the abundance of material to pick from. The falling of Stank and Smith to take their accustomed places in the line up because of injuries is a recognized blow to the aspirations of the college. Against the theoretical deductions however, must be placed the fact that the present gridiron season has brought forth some notable upsets and there is the chance that another instance may be recorded here.

Alternative players: Greason, half back; Johnson, left guard; and Jones, right guard. They will average up in weight pretty well with their fellows. The line from tackle to tackle inclusive will average 140 pounds. The whole team will average 133 3-7 pounds.

Men from whom the Lynchburg team will be picked this afternoon include Burnett, Barnes, Smith, Curtis, Via, Gates, Watson, Lush, Levine, Jacobs, Grant, Wright, Buckner, Horn, Murphy, Polvart, Pond and Black.

HUFF REVEALED BIG CACHE OF PRIZED LIQUOR

Document From Moscow to British Communist Party Made Public—Instructs British Subjects to Work For Overthrow of Present Institutions.

(By The Associated Press)
LONDON, Oct. 25.—Publication of a foreign office document supposedly revealing a red Moscow plot against Great Britain started the public today.

The document included the text of an alleged letter marked "very secret" from M. Zinovief, president of the executive of the communist international, to the central committee of the British communist party containing in the words of the foreign office "instructions to British subjects to work for the violent overthrow of existing institutions in this country and for the subversion of His Majesty's armed forces as a means to that end."

A communication from the foreign office to the Russian charge d'affaires, M. Rakovsky calls attention to the alleged Zinovief letter and protests against this "violation of the specific and solemn undertakings repeatedly given to 'His Majesty's' government. The foreign office letter was signed by J. H. Gregory, one of the permanent officials in the absence of Premier MacDonald, who is also foreign minister.

Publication of the letter has aroused curiosity as to why the critical moment of an election campaign was chosen for their issuance. The opponents of the government, whether conservative or liberal, contend that the reasons for the dramatic appearance of the correspondence was that the government had become aware that the "very secret" letter was in the hands of the press and was to be printed today and accordingly that it made haste to rush its protest.

The hostile newspapers taking this view comment in several terms. They find proof in the letter of their contention that the labor party is under the sway of the communists.

The other hand, there is a suggestion that the government may have intended publication of the document as demonstration of its independence and as proof that it is not, as its enemies allege, under Moscow's heel.

It is also suggested that the document is a manifest forgery. One of the signatories of the letter as published is Arthur McManus, British representative in the interior of Russia, who has just returned from Russia. He says he never signed such a document and that it is a clumsy forgery.

Shenandoah Passing Over On Way Home

Burning Forests Filled Cabin With Smoke In Arkansas

CONWAY, Ark., Oct. 25.—(Abroad to S. S. Shenandoah, via Pacific) Smoke from the burning forests of the Ozarks filled the navigating cabin of the Shenandoah as she passed over southwest Arkansas on the last hourward bound leg of its record breaking 10,000 mile cruise last night.

Though the head winds continued, they diminished in intensity after darkness fell and the Shenandoah increased her speed from 39 to 35 miles an hour.

In the cool of the evening she was more than a ton heavier than during the day and she tilted at an angle of 15 degrees to maintain her equilibrium. She was riding smoothly in striking contrast to the wild night passage through the Rockies.

The course, as laid out by Lieut. Commander Hancock, navigating officer from here, will be across Jonesboro, Arkansas; Paducah, Ky.; Dayton, O.; Cumberland, Maryland and York, Pa. Lieut. Commander Lansdowne, captain of the ship, is expected to head the Shenandoah into the big harbor at Lake Hurst, N. J. Saturday before nightfall on New Jersey.

The first accident of the voyage occurred just before casting off from the mooring mast at Fort Worth, when the motor in the rear console kicked back and broke the wrist of H. Brown, aviation chief machinist mate. He is returning on the Shenandoah.

MANDAMUS IN MARTIN CASE NOW LIKELY

Mandamus proceedings before the Virginia court of appeals are in prospect next Monday in the event the city authorities refuse to permit a building permit to George C. Martin, who has an opportunity of leasing his triangular plot at the junction of Mount Vernon avenue and West Main street for building to use as a filling station and a drug store. This was indicated by counsel for Mr. Martin this afternoon. By going direct to the Virginia Court of Appeals time may be saved. It is said in setting the rights of property owners clearly defined in the highest court in Virginia. The peremptory mandamus will be secured just as soon as a decision on the pending building permit is taken and it is anticipated that the case in Richmond will be taken on Monday.

City Attorney Aiken has been so busy with the zone suit during the past few days that he has not had time to study further the building application which has been referred to him. In the light of the ordinance passed by the council a few nights ago, however, it is expected that he will advise that the permit be not granted, thus precipitating the legal proceedings.

Wedding Called Off Suddenly After Rehearsal

(By Universal Service)
BALISTON, S. A., N. Y., Oct. 25.—With the Baptist church here decorated with flowers and after a wedding rehearsal Tuesday night, the marriage of Miss Helen A. Jenkins, twenty seven, and Will A. H. Shippen, fifty-five, a millionaire lumberman of Atlanta, Ga., scheduled for today was suddenly called off. The guests were notified an hour before time for the ceremony and the bride-to-be was sent into seclusion at her home.

After the rehearsal a dinner was given at the Jenkins home. The bridegroom-elect went away the next day to the convention of lumber dealers at Atlantic City and did not come back.

Shippen is widely known throughout the South as one of the foremost lumber dealers. His first wife died some years ago. He married a second time, and was divorced. He is the head of the Shippen Hardwood Lumber Company at Ellijay, Ga., with many sawmills scattered over a wide mountain area.

LOCAL INCOME W. W. BOISSEAU RECORDS WON'T FACES CHARGES BE BARED HERE IN HENRY CO.

Sub Offices Such as Danville, Not Required to Keep Information On Returns

Federal income tax records filed with the deputy collector of internal revenue in Danville will not be open to public inspection, it was learned today from Mrs. Ola Fries who has held that position in the city for several years.

Mrs. Fries pointed out that Danville is a sub office of Richmond and that no permanent records of income tax returns are kept here though a partial list showing the tax returns is kept for the convenience of the government. Should any person make application to Mrs. Fries for the records he would be referred to Richmond where the actual returns are filed and stored.

The collector this morning that the records in Danville are very incomplete. Scores of persons file their returns in Richmond and mail their quarterly checks direct to that office. The sub offices are not required to keep the records of the taxes paid but Mrs. Fries has been in the habit of making out a typewritten form showing the amount of the tax paid and the date on which it was paid. This is done solely for the benefit of persons making returns. The records might forget just how much they have paid on their income tax and whose memory could be refreshed by scanning the typewritten list.

Mrs. Fries let it be known that as this is merely an office copy that it would not be submitted to public scrutiny and any examination of the records might result in a fine. She said that no one has yet come forward and asked to see any record but if such application is made their desire will not be gratified here.

Enquiries made this morning of the records at the district offices revealed that the government officials have not been a real explanation. All they know is that Congress adopted the law containing the publicity diet since last May and that order has been sent to district collectors in structing them to meet the public demand. The publicity provision adopted by Congress reads as follows:

Revenue, which means, locally, the district collector shall as soon as practicable in each year cause to be prepared and made available to the public in the office of the collector in each internal revenue district and in such other places as he may determine, lists containing the names and the first office address of each person making an income tax return in such district, together with the amount of tax paid by such person.

Of the States having income tax laws only Wisconsin has done away with the provision for privacy.

POOL BEGINS TO WAGE WAR; INJUNCTION OUT

Dr. W. G. Swanson Charged With Violating Five Year Contract

Forecast that the Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Marketing Association was preparing to wage war on alleged contract breakers were sustained early this afternoon when Judge Clement sitting in the circuit court of Danville, signed an injunction sued out against Dr. W. T. Swanson, alleging that he has sold tobacco on the open market during the past two years and restraining him from so doing. The injunction was issued on a showing of a "pool" Dr. Swanson is widely known in the county. He is specifically charged with selling 15,000 pounds of leaf within the two years. The five per cent damages assessed against him total $750, to which will be added counsel fees and other costs which probably will bring the total to $1,000.

Harry Wooding, Jr., who represents the "pool" organization in Danville, stated this morning that the association proposes first to proceed against the more prominent farmers alleged to have violated their contract and then deal with the less prominent growers later. He indicated that the association will probably proceed in other cases in the near future.

Good Morning Judge!

Luther Lewis, who on a few days ago was sentenced to serve sixty days in the road by Police Magistrate R. Pitts at Schoolfield, was this morning given six months' jail time in the county road on conviction on charges of obtaining money under false pretences. The youth is alleged to have secured advances on tobacco which he did not have. An appeal was noted and he was released on a bail bond of $500.

The only other case tried was a charge of speeding against Ferdinand Eggett, colored, who was convicted and assessed $21 and costs.

HUNT'S DAILY LETTER

By HARRY B. HUNT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—When his fellow townsmen of Birmingham, Alabama, burned Senator Oscar Underwood in effigy the other night, and then buried his political body with elaborate ceremonies, they were simply venting a feeling of protest against a man who has become general throughout the Democratic party.

For if the Democratic party is to lose the election this year—and the leaders privately admit that now seems inevitable—Underwood will be regarded as the man who first gashed the skin of the Democratic hopes. It was Underwood, as candidate for the Democratic nomination, who first raised the issue of the Ku Klux Klan.

It was Underwood's spokesman who placed his name in nomination who first mentioned the Klan in the New York convention, thereby starting a near-riot.

And it was the issue of the Klan, thus dragged in, which not only decided the convention for more than 100 ballots, arrayed delegates into hostile camps and thwarted the nomination of most-favored candidates, but which is now held responsible for the defections which cloud the party's prospect for victory.

Not in a decade had Democratic expectation of victory been so confident as it was this year, prior to the New York convention.

Every factor necessary for a winning campaign seemed to be at hand. The administration in power had been involved in one of the biggest scandals in national history. All the ammunition thought to be needed to beat the opposition was at hand, and more, was stored away. It wasn't going to be a campaign—it was to be a walkover.

This was the situation even after the Republican convention at Cleveland. Coolidge's nomination was not merely expected, it was wanted by the Democrats.

Then Underwood and his Alabama delegates threw the Klan issue into the New York convention, and the party unity was torn to shreds. It was no longer a convention of Democrats, met to pick a Democrat for president. It was a convocation of Klan and anti-Klan adherents.

When the fever had run its course and the assembly finally got down to the selection of a candidate, all the enthusiasm and vigor that should have been saved for the campaign had been dissipated. Neither side had won a victory. Neither side was satisfied. And neither side cared two whoops whether the candidate they had finally nominated won or not.

In this situation, directly, can be attributed the rough and rocky road of the Davis managers in making progress with his campaign. From an open road and a cloudless sky the situation changed almost overnight to an almost impassable path overhung with clouds and threats of storm.

While resentment against Underwood, as the man who dragged in the Klan issue and directly precipitated the following fight, is perhaps deadened and its growing animosities. Just what would have happened at any particular time, had any one or two of these candidates withdrawn his name and started the election of the decade is a favorite subject for speculation around Democratic headquarters.

Everything might have been so different! But it didn't happen—and from now on, confidence the party leaders have now descended to the stage of hope without expectation.

Iodine in Food

It is agreed that the diet of many people is deficient in iodine. This statement is true of only two or three minerals—lime and iron—so far as we know. Neither animals nor plants can manufacture iodine. All they do is pick it up from soil where they grow, from the food they eat, or the water they drink, and store it in one form or another for the plants and animals which live upon them. In the soil, it grows on a soil that is rich in iodine. It will be rich in that mineral. If, on the other hand, it is poor in iodine, the plant will be poor in that mineral. If, on the other hand, it is poor in iodine, the plant will be poor in that mineral. If, on the other hand, it is poor in iodine, the plant will be poor in that mineral.

Tressler and Wells have recently reported the results of a large number of analyses of sea foods for iodine. They ranked groups of sea foods as follows: 1. Marine algae; 2. oysters, clams, and lobsters; 3. shrimps; 4. crabs and most sea fishes; and a fifth group for purposes of comparison—fresh water fishes, vegetables, beef, steak and milk. At the top of the list and far ahead of any other in iodine content is bath sponge. Dry seaweed is second. Other sea plants and animals rank far below this group. In the second rank come cod liver oil, acar, lobsters, clams, and oysters.

Dropping down considerably, we find the iodine content ranging downward in the following order: Spot, shrimp, rock, white perch, Spanish mackerel, scup, haddock, tautog, halibut, alewife, bluefish, cod, sea scallop, common mackerel, white flounder, pompano, pilchard. The fresh water fish contained very little iodine as compared with those from salt water. For instance, blue gill taken from the Mississippi river at Tipton, Ia. contained only one-tenth the iodine per pound found in Spanish mackerel.

Among the fresh water fish that contained more than the average iodine for the class were black bass, white fish, pickerel, blue gill, and carp. But the amount of iodine in fresh water fish depended a good deal on the waters in which they were caught. Potomac fish seemed to average higher in iodine than did fish from Lake Erie or from the Mississippi river. However, even fresh water fish carried more iodine than did ordinary vegetables, meat, and milk.

STUBBORN BATTLES IN THE SOUTH EXPECTED

(By The Associated Press)

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 25.—Scores of yearlong battles are rising like spectres to haunt southern football players this afternoon as games of last season are played again.

No correspondence course during the off-season has been necessary to remind Alabama and Georgia Tech that they were stopped by Vanderbilt 35 to 7 and the Bulldogs are all set to make a more impressive showing against the Commodores at Nashville this afternoon.

Tennessee and Mississippi A and M will hardly fight out a more desperate battle today than they did on their last meeting when the score was 5 to 3.

Washington and Lee won from V. M. I. traditional rival, 12 to 0 last year, but the Gobblers are regarded as a thoroughly worthy of the Generals' steel today.

Maryland was two touchdowns better than University of North Carolina when they last met, the score being 14 to 0.

Wake Forest's margin over Lynchburg was 25 to 0 and Richmond defeated Randolph-Macon 12 to 0 while William and Mary took Trinity into camp 21 to 0. Elon downed Emory 6 to 0.

Virginia Military Institute won from North Carolina State by a score of 22 to 7. Furman defeated Citadel 30 to 14 and Mississippi college won a verdict over Birmingham-Southern last season 19 to 0.

Alleged Check Snatcher Caught and Identified

Walter Thomas, a negro, was identified this morning by Fred Holderber and C. J. Watson as the man who yesterday snatched a check at Banner warehouse and who eluded the police for several hours. Thomas was arrested some distance beyond Dundee yesterday evening by Police Sergeant J. H. Martin and Patrolman O. S. Mayberry and Tom Bowles and locked up for the night.

Holderber, bookkeeper at Banner warehouse, was making out a check yesterday morning for H. H. Statton, a farmer living near Ringgold, the amount being $71.20. He was just finishing the check when a negro walked to the window and held a gun check to the negro who at that moment was seen running through the warehouse door. A call was sent to police headquarters, and pursuit was taken up. The officers named came up with the negro at about 1:30 o'clock yesterday evening and he was held because he answered the description given. Identification, it is said, was positive this morning and Thomas will be given a hearing next week. The check was not found on the negro.

MORE ELIMINATIONS WILL BE SEEN WITH GRIDIRON CLASHES THIS AFTERNOON

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Football games up the eastern range today will express a wide variety of the character of the sport.

Temperament will be stricken at Princeton where the highly charged Tigers will face the baffling Notre Dame wind which will blow the Notre Dame football's oldest family around Palmer stadium and score a 25 to 2 victory.

During the last week Princeton has prepared as never before for any team not of the "big three." Notre Dame will be without its captain and line star Captain Dan Wash, and the Tigers hope to aggravate his absence by charging fast enough to stop Growley, Lyden and Miller before they gain momentum.

It will mark the last appearance in the east of Rocke's famous squad of the last of all of whom leave school next week.

At Cambridge, Harvard will wrestle with a powerful Dartmouth eleven polished by its friction with Yale last week. The green is favored, on season's form to win, but the outcome of the contest will be affected by the slow process of preparation for the "big three" battles.

With the same idea in mind Tad Jones will tinker about his machine at New Haven while Yale spurs with Brown in what should be a good workout for E. J. Yale is in the formative period, with its character in the making, but observers estimate that the boy will turn out well.

Cold efficiency, demonstrated in the Syracuse match, throughout the year will lay its knite upon the form of Penn State, still bewildered by 15 defeat last week though the northerners excelled in all parts of the game.

The Orange and Foley working behind a veteran line, should win its fifth straight victory, although the possibility of the Nittany Lion finding itself upon its own gridiron is strong.

Lafayette and V. M. I. will engage in a game of skill at the Yankee stadium, with continuance as one of the unbeten eleven of the year a prize for the victor. Two seasons back W. and J. won 14 to 13. Lafayette told his team to come all and give one of the strong teams of the present season and is favored to win.

Straying still further from home are two southern eleven, West Virginia and Centre, who came all to the polo grounds to settle a rivalry which began five years ago in the mountains famed for their feuds.

Centre was an unknown then and West Virginia a team with national applause following a 30 to 0 victory over Princeton.

DAVIS HAS 3 ADDRESSES ON HIS PROGRAM

Is Highly Optimistic Concerning Result of Election

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Resuming his campaign in New York, John W. Davis, democratic candidate for president, faced today a schedule of speaking engagements and a motor vehicle in the State during the election contest, the speech at Carnegie hall on the evening of November 1.

He motored to the city from his home in Loudon Valley to address a democratic women's rally at a Staten Island meeting, winding up the day with a third speech before a gathering in the Bronx tonight.

It is his intention to outline in part his experiences in Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, Missouri, Kentucky and Tennessee, supplementing the statement he issued upon his return from those States last night. His evidence, he expects, will be convincing and will affirming his unqualified statement that the democratic national ticket would win on November 4 and in addition to carrying the tickets which he heads, that the democratic party would be given a majority control in Congress.

He appeared to enjoy the brief rest from travel made possible by the first overnight stay at his home in more than two weeks. He showed no outward signs of fatigue from the middle west swing and told friends he had gotten a "second wind" and in every respect was physically fit for the intensive finale they had mapped out for him.

Mountaineers and Centre Play Today

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Centre College and West Virginia university will resume football relations today at the polo grounds after a lull since 1919. The Mountaineers are slight favorites, although they have been beaten by Pitt.

Centre was held to a scoreless tie by Valparaiso and beat Transylvania 25 to 0. Covington, flashy quarterback, is the lone luminary of the Colonels who introduced by McMillin and Red Roberts to American teams in recent years.

LYNCHBURG OVERWHELMS DANVILLE HIGH 48 TO 7

(By The Associated Press)

LYNCHBURG, Oct. 25.—Lynchburg High School football team continued its unbroken string of victories by defeating Danville High School yesterday at the Fair Grounds by the score of 48 to 7. The only drawback to a perfect day was the fact that the Hilltop boys had their goal line crossed for the first time.

Although outwheeled by Danville on a forward pass and ran 65 yards for a touchdown. The pass was thrown diagonally a distance of about 35 yards, and Farley took it out of the air on the run, and got away clean for the longest run of the day.

Lynchburg played Danville completely off her feet. Not only did the Hilltop back field get away time and again for good gains around the ends, but they tore through the heavy Danville line for consistent gains.

Although outwheeled by Danville on an average of twelve pounds to a man, the driving power of the back field rolled back the heavier Danville defense for a total of 24 first downs against two for Danville.

With the idea of running up a large score against Danville, Coach Wright kept most of the men who started the game in until the latter part of the game, when he made many substitutions, and in every case the new men carried on the attack, and were as impregnable on defense as the men whose place they took.

The distance gained by the local boys in rushing the ball amounted to 392 yards, while including the run of Farley for 65 yards Danville gained but 116 yards.

Lynchburg gained consistently on every exchange of punts, and made fifty yards on forward passes.

PRINCE A BIT WISTFUL AS HE LEAVES AMERICA

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Flowing hair across the Atlantic ocean the Prince of Wales is hearing the Prince of Wales back to England with souvenirs and memories of his American visit. He was a little wistful as he looked for the last time at the jagged skyline of New York City. The prince and his staff had hurried up the gangplank. He banttered with them and posed for photographers willingly, though he still showed a little embarrassment.

On the ship he was greeted by the British ambassador, Sir Esme Howard and Captain Howarth, commander of the Olympic. He was led through lines of sailors to a suite that have been reserved for him. He thought the mahogany and gold finish "too pretty" for him and turned it over to G. M. F. Trotter and took another, done in white and gold, for himself.

Weekly Sunday School Lesson

JESUS STILL THE STORM

TEXT—Mark 4:35-41

And the same day, when the even was come, he saith unto them, Let us pass over unto the other side. And when they had sent away the multitude, they took him even as he was in the ship. And there were also with him other little ships. And there arose a great storm of wind, and the waves beat into the ship, so that it was filled. And they awoke him, and say unto him, Master, carest thou not that we perish? And he arose, and rebuked the wind, and said unto them, Why are ye so fearful? How is it that ye have no faith? And they feared exceedingly, and said one to another, What manner of man is this, that even the wind and the sea obey him?

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for Oct. 26: The Still-ling of the Storm—Mark 4:35-41.
By WM. E. GILROY D. D.
Editor-in-Chief of The Congregationalist

The people had so thronged about Jesus as He was teaching by the Sea of Galilee that He had had some of his fishermen friends pull out in a boat a few feet from the land, and He had concluded his sermon from the boat while the people stood on shore listening. The boat was not more than a half a mile from the shore, and it was a body of water not more than 13 miles long and eight miles wide; must have been very calm.

When Jesus had finished his teaching He suggested that they should cross to the other side of the sea. Apparently He wished to get away from the people, for He was so greatly in need of rest that He fell asleep in the stern of the boat. "And he lay upon a pillow," says the text. "And some of the disciples had been thoughtful for his Master's comfort."

And then there came what often happens on a little sea—a sudden and violent storm. The boat began to fill with water, and was in peril of being swamped. These storms came with such suddenness and violence upon the situation. The little body of water was set in a depression among hills so high that on the east side they rose to a height of 2000 feet. The surface of the Sea of Galilee itself was 680 feet below the Mediterranean! This low water level among high hills led then as now to differences of temperature that described in our lesson, such storms, as that described in our lesson, were probably used to the sea, but they were

ALDERMAN'S IDEAL IS JOHN W. DAVIS

WASHINGTON, D. C. Oct. 24.—A strong endorsement and pledge of support of John W. Davis for president of the University of Virginia, one of the best known college heads in the country, was a feature of the announcements issued today from the headquarters of the Democratic National committee.

Dr. Alderman's statement reads as follows: "I shall support John W. Davis in his candidacy for the presidency of the United States. In addition to that, I count myself a Democrat by conviction. I think John W. Davis the best fitted man for this office now before the public eye in America. He has intelligence of a high order, experience, political intelligence, leadership, liberalism in thought, and devotion to his fellow men in practice. This republic needs such a man at the helm of State. He knows foreign affairs, and he knows domestic needs. In my judgment, there has not been presented to the choice of the people in my generation a finer and more capable man for the presidency of the United States. There are combined in him courage and patience, idealism and common sense, executive talent and social vision, devotion to the republic, and high political intelligence. The presidency of the republic demands high qualities of mind and body and spirit. This man is fit to fill this office in the manner of its great traditions."

MARTIN BURKE WINS

(By The Associated Press) THE MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 24.—Martin Burke, New Orleans heavyweight, won a newspaper decision over Quintin Romero Rojas of Chile in a ten-round bout here tonight.

none the less terror-stricken, and all the more because their divine guest still slept, unconcerned about their peril and His. In their terror they awakened Him, and there was reproach in their words: CAREST THOU NOT THAT WE PERISH?

Is not that very much like the experiences of life? Sudden ill's and troubles assail us, and our best friends seem oblivious to our need. We are apt to be petulant and distrustful, even toward those from whom help is about to come.

Jesus rebuked the winds and the waves. "Peace, be still," He commanded. "And the wind ceased and there was a great calm."

The miracles of healing suggest Christ's greater power to heal the souls of men. So here, this miracle of the stilling of the storm on Galilee is symbolic of the power of Jesus to still the storms of life. Our lives are full of passion and restlessness and danger because we do not bring them under the sway of His peace.

We are accustomed to think of the power of Jesus as manifest in quiet lives, never assayed by sweeping emotions, and never marked by great adventures and dangers. But that notion is all wrong. The power of Jesus to calm the storms of life has been displayed throughout the ages in the most tempestuous of men. Here among the disciples were those passionate men, those stormy petrels, James and John; here was impetuous and impulsive Peter, but we think also of innumerable tempestuous souls over whom Jesus has triumphed with His peace.

Jesus said to the disciples, "Why are ye so fearful? How is it that ye have no faith?" Is not fear sometimes the gateway to faith? Is not a good thing to be afraid, when our fear drives us to refuge and help? Perhaps this is one of the lessons that strong men find it hard to learn. It is a good thing when men find an extremity that drives him to God.

Let us note also that though God may seem indifferent to our distress, even as Jesus slept through the disciples' peril, He is really very near and ready to help when we call upon Him. Often He cannot help us until our readiness to let Him be expressed in our cry. But how quickly He comes with His "Peace, be still."

FOUNDER OF AMERICAN WAR MOTHERS TO VOTE FOR DAVIS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—John W. Davis, Democratic presidential candidate, in a letter made public tonight by the Democratic national committee, asserted that if elected, he will "leave" nothing undone to hasten the day when conference and contact and reconciliation shall become the normal habit of nations and when a decent respect for the common judgment of mankind shall serve to keep order throughout the civilized world.

The candidate's letter, dated October 19, was in reply to one from Mrs. Alice M. French, founder of the American War Mothers, offering her services to the Democratic cause because, she said, it is "evident the Republican party intends to continue its propaganda of war."

"Who can know so well" Mr. Davis wrote, "the crushing grief that war imposes as those who like yourself, gave to the country's service the children you have cursed from infancy to manhood?"

Displace Brutal Force
"You comforted yourselves as they so gallantly marched away with the promise that they went on a holy crusade to end all future wars, that out of your sacrifice and their courage there would be built a world where peace and reason might displace the rule of brutal force. This promise, so often repeated to you and to those like you, it is the sacred duty of your country to redeem by every exertion in its power, and I rejoice that the Democratic party has pledged itself to hasten the day of this redemption."

"Those who sow among the nations the seeds of distrust and suspicion, who teach men that virtue and honesty and fair dealing are not to be expected from other nations than their own, who preach peace but practice war no matter how loud may be their patriotic professions, are the heart enemies of all that makes the future bright. True it is nobler than

BRITISH IN CONFLICT WITH RUSSIAN SOVIETS

LONDON, Oct. 24.—The British government again is in conflict with the Russian soviet government on the question of propaganda, according to correspondence issued by the foreign office tonight for publication in tomorrow's newspapers.

In a letter today signed "in the absence of the secretary of state" by one of the permanent officials of the foreign office, J. T. Gregory, and addressed to Christian Rakovsky, the Russian charge d'affaires in London, attention is drawn to an accompanying copy of a letter received by the central committee of the British communist party from M. Zinovief, president of the committee of the communist internationale, dated August 15.

BLACKSTONE GRIDIRONERS ON WAY TO PLAY CHATHAM

The football team of the Blackstone Military academy, on way to Chatham to play the Training School team of the county seat, arrived in Danville last night and spent the night at the Hotel Burton. They will drive over to Chatham this morning to tackle the C. T. S. team and are hopeful, not to say confident, of a decisive victory. The boys are a pretty husky bunch and among the number is a tall and powerful Mexican who plays guard. Murphy, a former resident of Danville and son of a former Cabell Street Memorial pastor, is quarterback on the Blackstone bunch. The boys went to quarters early last night and are taking the best of care of themselves.

Fall Called for Full Information

(By The Associated Press)
LOS ANGELES, Oct. 24.—Two weeks after former Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall took office he called specifically for information that would acquaint him with naval oil lands, it was revealed today at the trial in federal court here of the ex-Secretary of the Interior.

The trial in the Elk Hills naval oil reserve, which is charged, the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport Company obtained through fraud and conspiracy.

Edward C. Finney, assistant secretary of the interior, appearing as a government witness, testified that Fall, entering office on March 4, 1921,

Acquit Fair Men in Gambling Case

COVINGTON, Va., Oct. 24.—All officials of the Allegheny Fair association, tried recently on charges of operating games of chance at the fair, were acquitted after a hearing before Magistrate P. L. Wright.

The warrant against the officials—Thomas B. McCreary, secretary of the fair association; Ben Hooper, superintendent of the concessions, and L. G. Surber, superintendent of the agricultural exhibits—was issued by Magistrate W. A. Tyree, who declared he found games of chance in operation when he visited booths.

After the hearing Mr. McCaleb read a statement in which he charged Magistrate Tyree with malicious prosecution in issuing the warrant.

A dispatch sent out after the trial of the three fair officials on September 24, last, erroneously said they had been found guilty of the charges against them when it should have said they were acquitted.

The Tangle

An Intimate Story of Insidious Emotion Revealed in Private Letters

"Wait here," I said to my sister, and I left her abruptly, disregarding her surprised and anxious look. She did not seem to understand what she had done that we all should leave her so abruptly to her own devices. I remember that Karl was altogether too lenient with her, and my lips tightened rather grimly as I thought of what John would do with her if she went into one of these tantrums.

Arriving at my room, I took the jewel case which I had hidden in my bureau drawer and hurried back to Alice. She was sitting just where I had left her, and had the same look of indecision upon her face.

"Here are the jewels, Alice," I exclaimed as I dropped the box into her lap. "Now, hope, as you have gotten your wish, you will not make me any more trouble over them. I solemnly promised Karl I would never part with them, and I gave him this promise not so much because they were intrinsically valuable, as because I knew they meant so much to him. It may not mean much to you, but to me promises are binding, and I considered this one so binding that I could never have been so unreasonable about them."

"God knows I don't want this necklace. Ever since I have known the pearls were real I have been made unhappy by them. They have meant the traditional tears to me, and this time I even have to have been so unreasonable about them."

"I cannot understand your attitude, but the why or wherefore you should feel as you do, hereafter will have no effect upon me. I give them into your keeping, and I hope they will not bring you as much unhappiness and sorrow as they have to me. I never want to look upon them again."

I was so angry I had not noticed that both John and Karl had come into the room, and was greatly surprised when Karl came forward for his share, and picked up the case from Alice's lap. With it in his hand he turned to me, standing beside my husband, who had put his arm protectively about me.

"I am sorry, Leslie," Karl said decidedly. "I know you have had to take this case and what it contains go out of your possession. These pearls were yours. They have been yours ever since I bought the first one as a boy, and I hoped that they would go from you to your daughter and so on down, after you and I should both be dead."

"They meant so much of my youth to me."

"I can see, however, that retaining them would mean too much unhappiness to you, so I take them back into my own keeping. They can never belong to Alice. Immediately I shall put them in a safe place, and I shall add a codicil to my will leaving them to John or John's daughter, and yours. There they will rest until your death, or until Alice comes to her senses and asks your and your husband's forgiveness for all the trouble she has made you."

"When you married your husband, Leslie, you gave me your friendship. Otherwise I would have never married your sister."

"I shall remember this unseemly outburst of temper on the part of Alice, and give you my word that I know that unless she tries to curb her ungovernable rages, they will lead her into dire consequences."

BUTTER IN JELLY
Jelly is not so apt to boil over if you put butter around the edge of the kettle in which it is cooked.

SAIT DIET'S ODOR
When burning potato skin or any garbage in your stove put in a handful of salt so as to prevent any disagreeable odor.

ADD SUGAR
Add sugar to the jelly when the boiling is about half done. Be sure to skim the juice before putting in the sugar.

FOR CHILDREN'S CLOTHES
Hand-runs make very pretty trimmings for children's clothes, and may be let out as the child's increased height necessitates a longer frock.

SILVER POLISH HANDY
Keep some silver polish in your sink shaker over the sink so you have it to remove stains on your silver as you wash your dishes.

FOR SALAD DRESSING
The liquid from mustard pickles should be saved and used in salad dressings or in relish.

FOR SIMPLE ROOM
Unbleached muslin makes quaint curtains for a simply furnished room, particularly if you embroider or paint bold motifs on it in bright colors.

Relations Between Russia and Poland Seriously Strained

(By O. D. Blaschus (Universal Staff Correspondent))
BERLIN, Oct. 25.—The beating up of Polish diplomats in Russia and of Russian diplomats in Poland have added a new strain to the relations between the two countries, which were formerly friendly enough.

The Polish government has sent a note of protest to the Soviet government against what it calls "systematic" violence inflicted on its representatives in Russia and demands an immediate investigation and punishment of the guilty.

The Warsaw foreign office cites five cases of bodily attacks on Polish diplomats in Russia within two days. These attacks, however, are seen in retaliation for the attack on a member of the Russian embassy at Warsaw recently, about which the Soviet government sent a note of protest to Poland.

LA FOLETTE IS MORE OF A NUISANCE THAN MENACE, THOMAS R. MARSHALL SAYS

(By The Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 24.—Declaring that he "took the serum treatment of criticizing presidents when Woodrow Wilson was in office" and made a vow "never to utter one word against any president," Thomas R. Marshall, former vice president, discussed the Republican party and Senator Robert M. La Follette in an address here today. He also discussed the Ku Klux Klan.

"I have no criticism for Calvin Coolidge," Mr. Marshall said, after opening his address with a declaration that most of what he was saying he had "said for Tilden in 1876."

"Maybe if I had been a little more like Mr. Coolidge I'd have had some luck when I was vice president. But I do say that the state of things in Washington is the legitimate outcome of principles of the Republican party."

"The Democratic idea is that God made men and not classes. He might not have picked the best kind of clay, but it is the same stuff."

"I don't like reformers, up-lifters or down-pushers. These up-lifters always charge you so much a push. I have but one objection to wealth—I haven't it myself. I don't know how easy it is to get when I was in Washington. So I think that what we need is better reform—it's a dedication of regeneration in the service of God, our country and common humanity."

"You have had too much protection. You had better quit blowing about being great Americans when you're not big enough to take care of yourselves without protection. It's a fine thing to talk about the 'open door' in other countries when you have locked your own, and thrown away the key."

"If we'd knock down every customs house and let men trade where they please there would be no more wars."

"You're awfully scared about La Follette now. Think the goblins are going to get you. He could not do anything if he got in, except work his finger and roach his hair. I don't think La Follette is so much of a menace as a nuisance. He caused Wilson more trouble than all the Republican party. I don't see how a Wilson Democrat could vote for him. I should think one who did, would go to Washington and see Wilson's grave and retire from business."

"I don't want class legislation, but the supreme thing I don't want is interference with the religious beliefs of the American citizen. You're worried about the Ku Klux Klan. Well, I have no respect for a man who sleeps on a mattress so as to use his sheet to express his opinions with."

"And you who think there will be chaos if nobody has a majority in the electoral college have never read the constitution. The electors of Davis and La Follette could agree and choose anybody they wanted."

"We have more luck in Indiana than you," Mr. Marshall continued. "I put our governor in the penitentiary. He said before election that he was going to apply the principles of his business to the administration of the state—and he did. That was one Republican office holder who did not lie."

PROBERS OF SLUSH FUND TO EXPLORE NEW FIELDS

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—While its process servers sought witnesses in connection with efforts to corroborate somewhat sensational, but as yet secret stories regarding the alleged misuse of funds in the Republican campaign, the Senate campaign fund investigating committee stood today to resume its work.

Resuming the inquiry Monday, the senators will explore new fields, among them the "straw vote" taken by the Literary Digest in the presidential campaign. Subpoenas have been made out against the Literary Digest publishers, it is said.

Another as yet unexplored field which probably will be entered upon next week is the $100,000 fund of the funds collected in the Pittsburgh district for the republican national committee. W. L. Mellon, nephew of Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of the Treasury, who, the committee has been informed, is chairman of the collection committee in that district, will be the principal witness in this phase of the inquiry.

Decided to issue subpoenas for men who may be able to substantiate stories told by two Chicago men about the misuse of funds in the campaign was reached late yesterday after the character of the stories had been told to the committee men in executive session by Frank P. Walsh, of Kansas City, and Samuel Untermyer, of New York, counsel for Senator La Follette. The Chicago men were present at the session, but were not called. Mr. Untermyer said he would hesitate to take the responsibility for having their testimony go to the country until the committee had run down the "leads" they would furnish, and he suggested that they be heard in executive session. The committee voted that suggestion and Chairman Borah announced later that all testimony during the inquiry would be taken in public.

less the title is presented with the application for the tag, the license will not be issued under any consideration, it is said, and car owners will have to house their machines until they have straightened out this necessary detail.

ST. RAFAEL'S DORMITORY IS DAMAGED BY FIRE

(By The Associated Press)
SEWANE, Tenn., Oct. 24.—Damage estimated at $10,000 was caused by a fire which entirely destroyed St. Rafael's dormitory of the St. Andrews school, located about two miles from this town at a late hour Thursday night.

About thirty two boys who were sleeping in the building at the time the fire was discovered were awakened and hurried from the structure.

Owners of automobiles in Virginia may begin applying for their 1925 license plates on December 15th E. T. Hutson, deputy automobile vehicle commissioner in this section said this morning. The tags for 1925 will be slightly smaller than those in use this year. The tags will be black and white, according to a recent announcement by Commissioner Hayes. It is not clear if the numeral will be white on a black background or vice versa. If the background is black, however, the Virginia tags will be virtualy the same as those now in use in North Carolina.

The minimum fee for a license plate this year was $13.20 and cars with a lower rating than 22-horse power will have to pay that sum. Amounts in excess of $13.20 will be rated at 60 cents per horse power. Motor truck license plates will be cost more as the rate has been slightly increased. Mr. Hutson says. Motorists desiring a special number may obtain it by paying an additional fee of ten dollars.

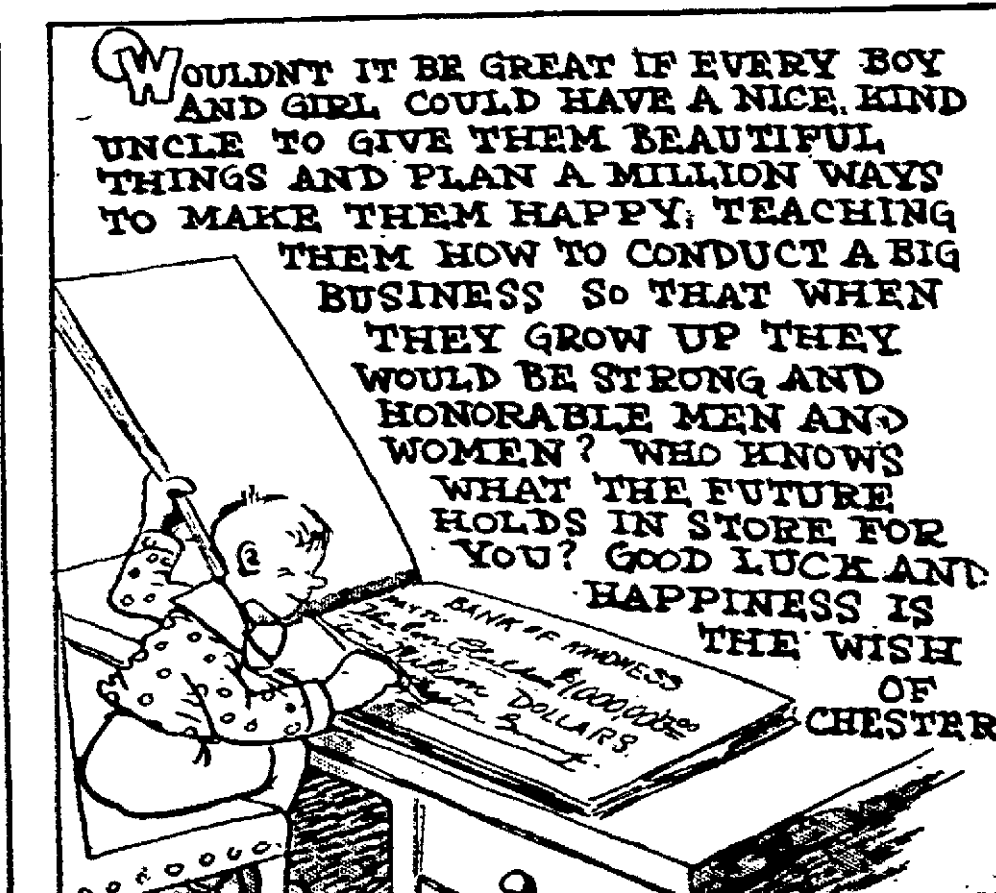

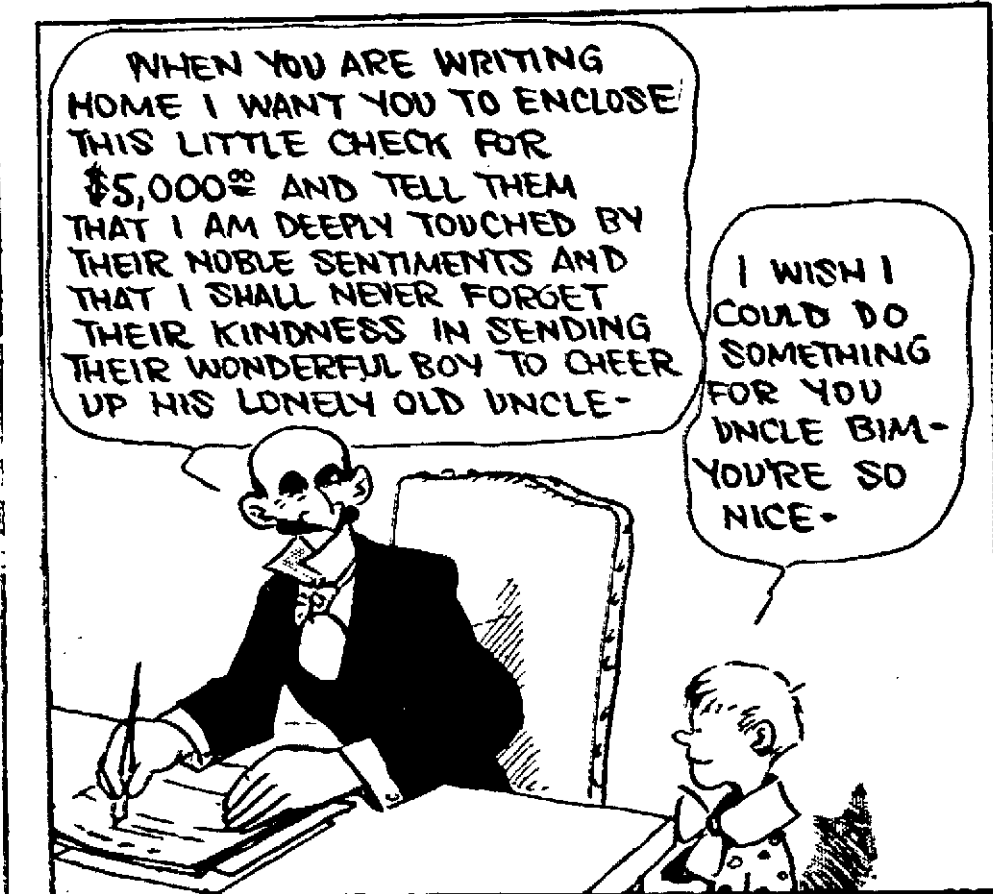

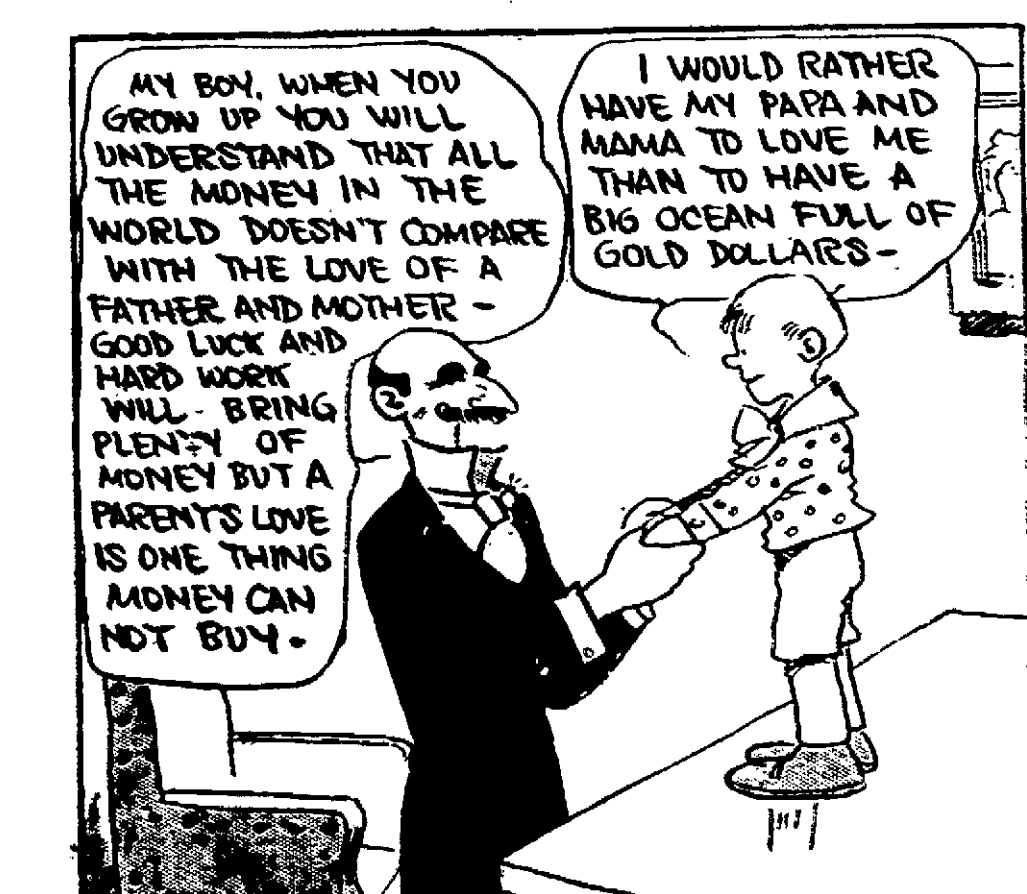

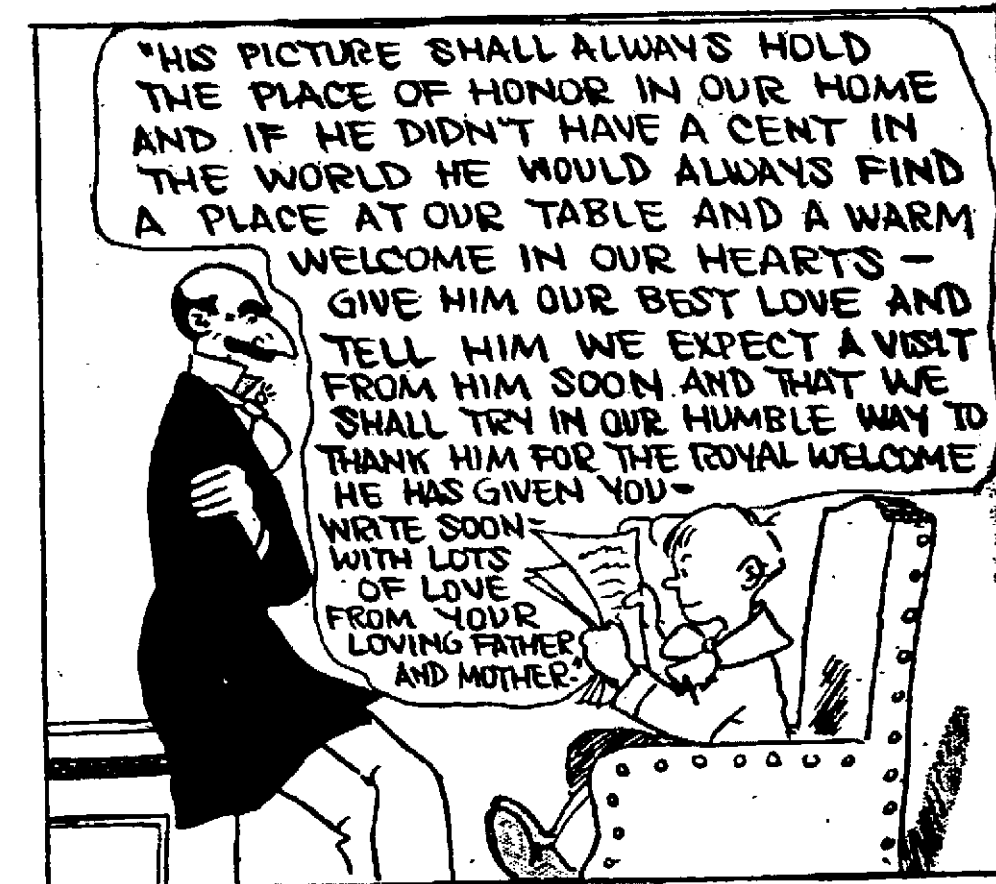

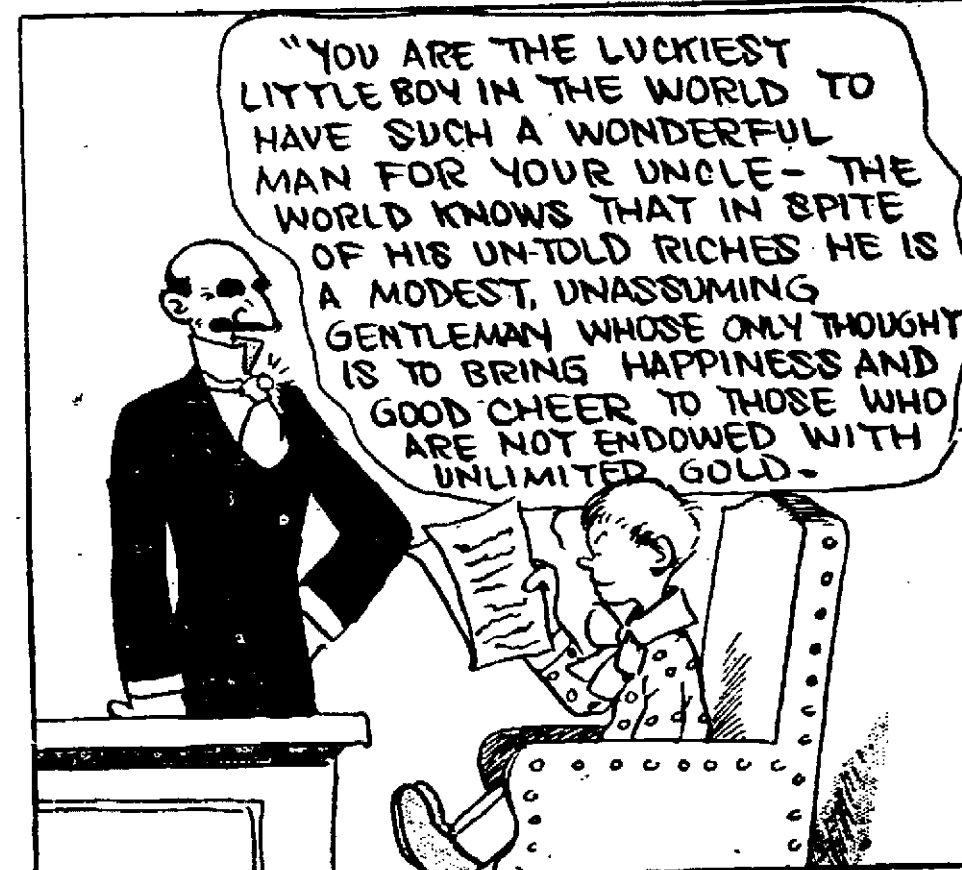

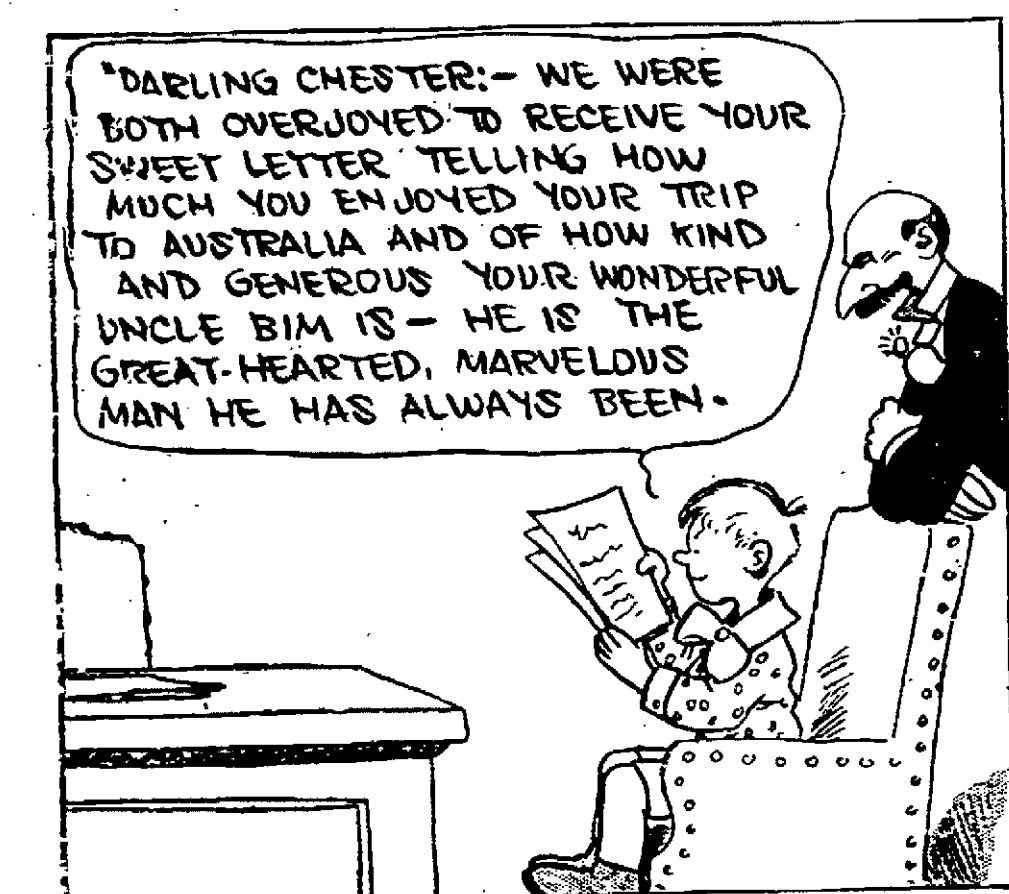

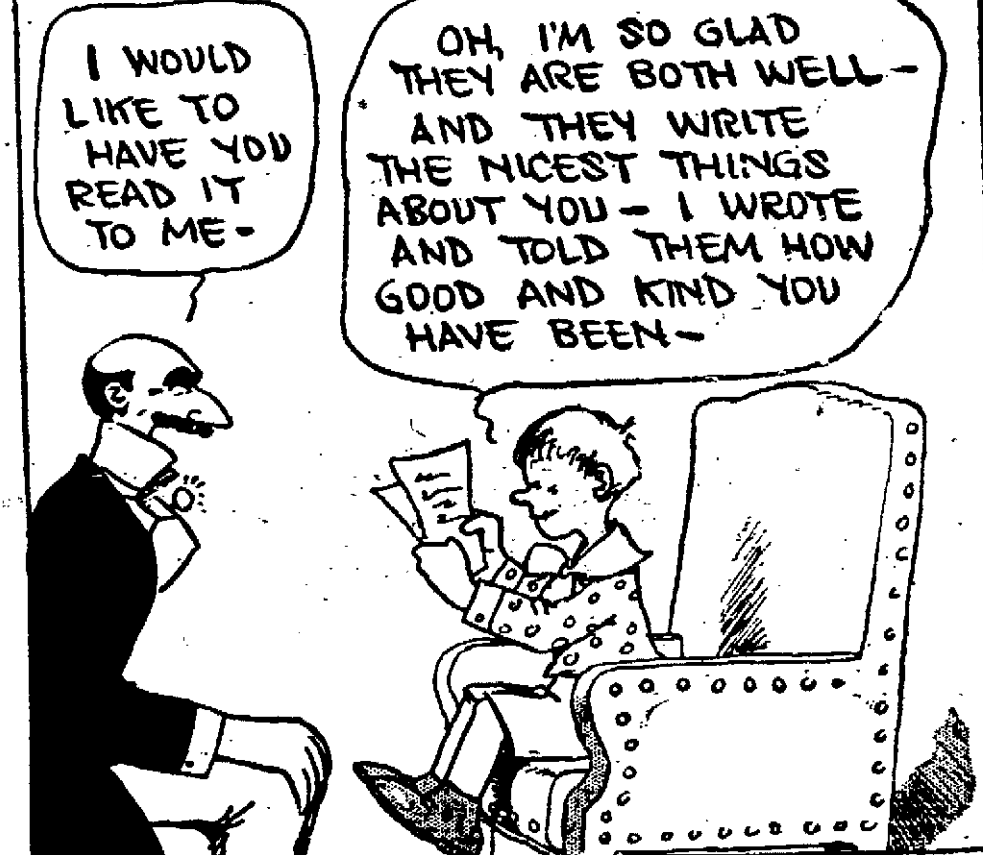

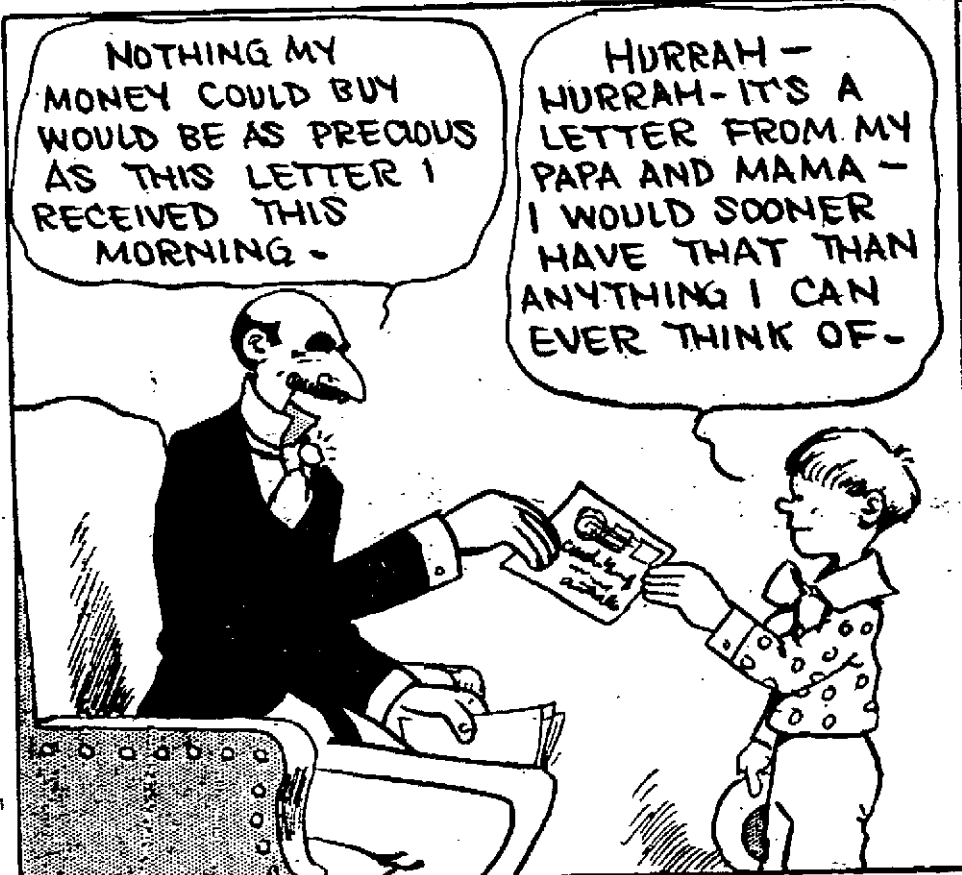

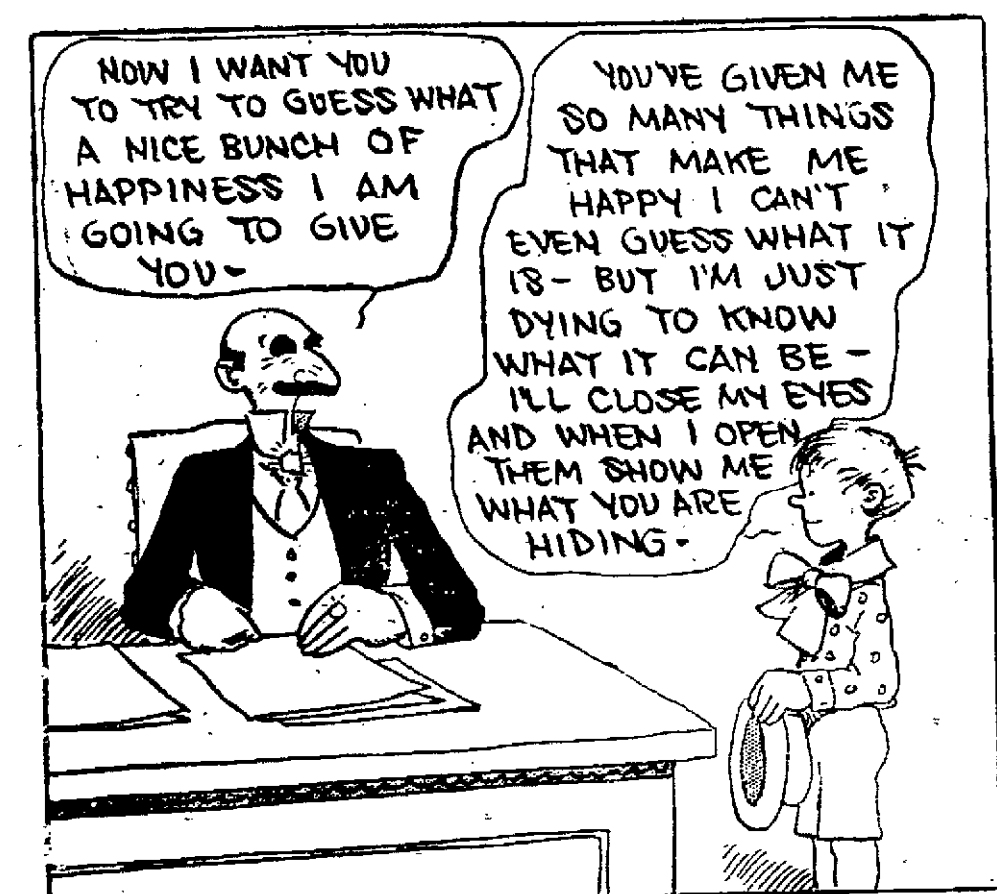

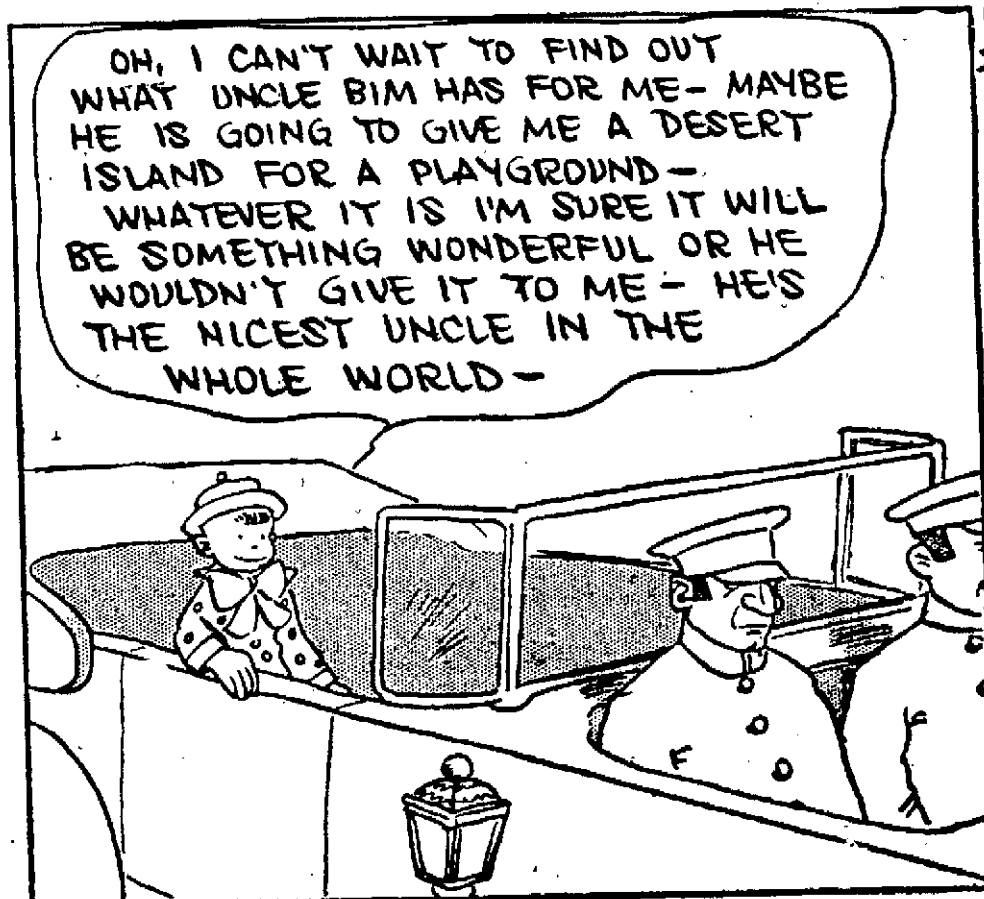

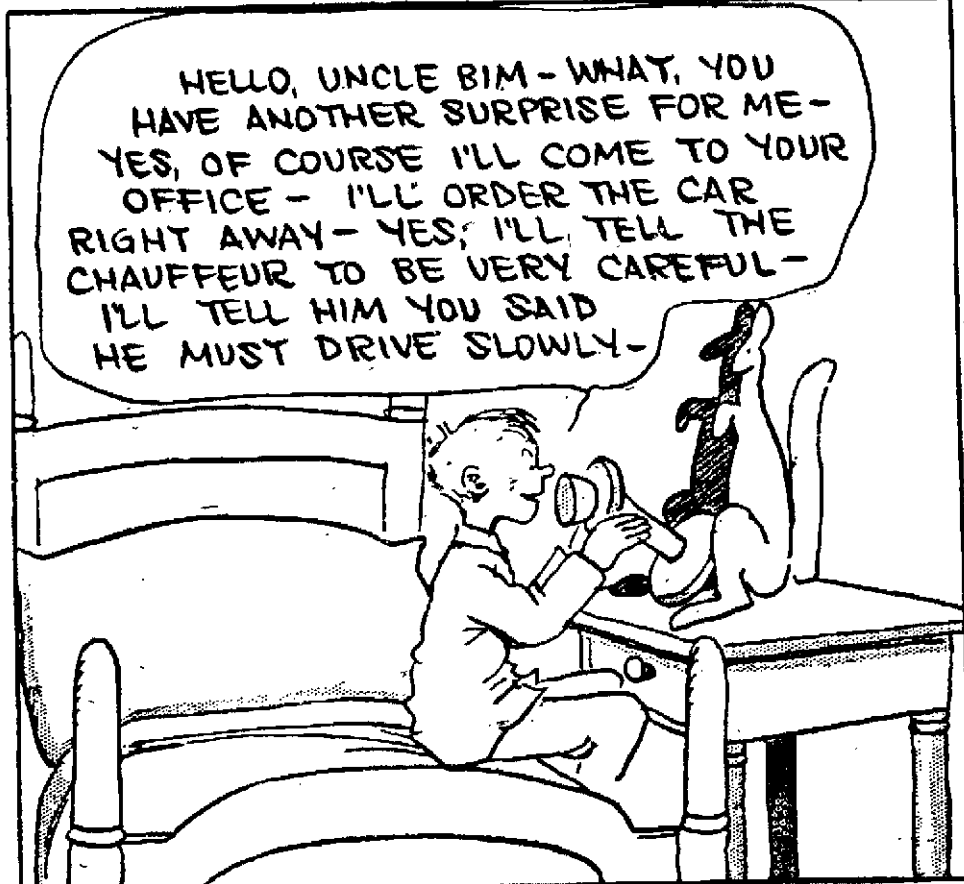

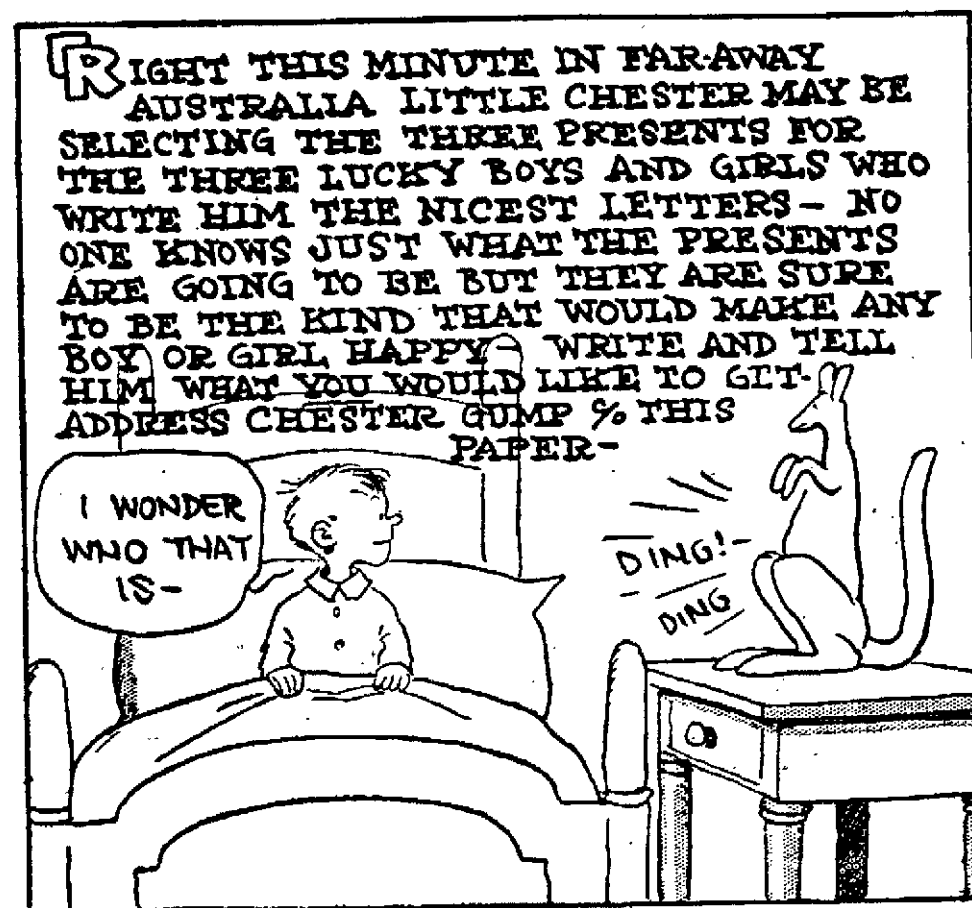

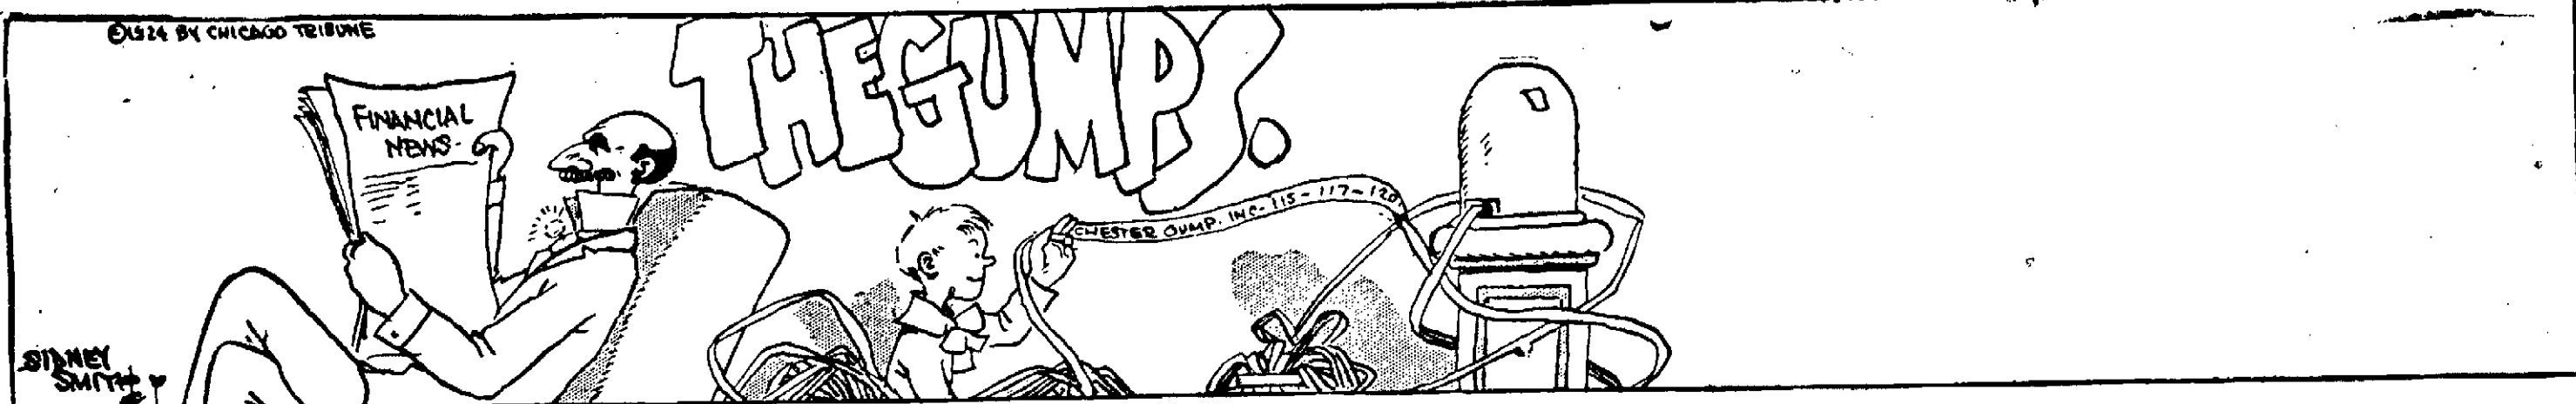

The title of a license plate will be the same number for their automobile as for their telephone in order that they may at all times have it in their mind. The title has been done as a courtesy heretofore, but during the coming year Mr. Hayes intends charging extra for it.

Mr. Hutson this morning pointed out that it will be impossible to obtain a 1925 license plate without having a recertified title to the machine. There are many people in Danville who although they filed their applications some time ago have not received the title from the Richmond office. Mr. Hutson believes it would be well for such persons to file out duplicates and send them in as they may have been lost by mail. Under the title is presented with the application for the tag, the license will not be issued under any consideration, it is said, and car owners will have to house their machines until they have straightened out this necessary detail.

CLOSING STOCK KLEETTER.

(Thomson & McKinnon)
NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Except for a little heaviness toward the end of the day in the industrials, largely due to profit taking, the market as a whole gave another excellent account of itself, the rails in particular showing little if any change in the cheerful sentiment which has been on the increase since the wholesome policies expounded earlier in the week by the President. One important factor recently has been the noticeable increase in public interest. It has been of sufficient force to maintain strength in the general market notwithstanding weakness in a few securities where prices are being adjusted to individual conditions. As we see it our business and political structure is shaping for increased prosperity. There are ample and conclusive reasons for a broadening of business in all lines, and the security market will participate in this improvement.

Everyman's Investments

By George T. Hughes

EIGHTY-SEVENTH ARTICLE

Home Field First.
I wonder how many of my readers when they have money to invest turn their attention first to the home field. By this I mean the securities of corporations whose business is conducted in their own immediate neighborhood.

It is a curious trait of human nature to think that something far off is better than at home. So it comes about that people take the longest kind of chances with their money in enterprises about which it is impossible for them to secure any kind of reliable information. The inclination is to overlook opportunities in their own city or town. Somehow it is more interesting to take a risk where distance lends enchantments. City people want to put their money into some agricultural enterprise, a tropical fruit plantation or a "unit orchard." Country people will buy real estate in some development which they have never seen, paying prices which the normal growth of that particular locality will not justify in a quarter of a century. Sometimes, of course, they win but more often they lose.

My suggestion is that you reverse this policy the next time you have a few hundred dollars to invest. Look around at home first. It may be that the public utility which serves your neighborhood is offering an issue of preferred stock to its customers. Certainly it is worth considering whether your funds are not safer in some business the progress of which you can watch every business day in the year than it is to take a venture in the dark. It ought to be a matter of local pride to help build up your own industry. It may be, too, that there is a good building and loan association right around the corner lending money to build more homes for your neighbors and so increase the wealth and prosperity of the locality as a whole. Why not investigate here before you reach out elsewhere?
